'92 Legislature

Controversial issues face state lawmakers

BY TRACI BONNEY Initiative and referendum, education, election reform, state revenues, fishing laws and property tax sales are some of the issues facing the Mississippi Legislature in its 1992 session, according to local legislators.

Senator Vic Frankiewicz said the possibility of another state election this fall may have an effect on what happens in Jackson during the 125-day legislative session.

"If the legislators have to face an election in the fall, they may not accomplish much this year," he commented. "They won't want to raise taxes because that would anger their constituents, and they won't want to do anything that would anger the powerful lobbying groups, so their hands will be essentially tied."

Representative J.P. Compretta said it is difficult to pinpoint just what will happen during the upcoming session until after the new governor, lieutenant governor and legislators going this session," Compretta said.

Talking about the issues most likely to be added in the session, Frankiewicz said, "Initiative and referendum will very likely be on the front bur-

"After about the first month, I think we'll be able to get some direction and see where we're ner this year."

Dockside update

Gaming commission inspects Mardi Gras' application

BY TRACI BONNEY Mardi Gras Casino Corporation's dockside gambling license application is currently under the state gaming commission's microscope, according to Bruce Nourse.

Nourse, chief investigator for the commission, said his office recently completed investigations of several gaming equipment and supply manufacturers and distributors. Five licenses have been issued to those who passed the investigations, which gives gaming facility operators a list of suppliers to work with when they start ordering supplies.

Now the investigative eye is on Marlin Torguson and his two planned developments, Mardi Gras Casino in Bay St. Louis and Delta Casino in Tunica County.

The commission intends to visit Torguson's other developments in Minnesota and Deadwood, South Dakota, during the course of the investigation, Nourse said.

"If we run into no problems, we might have a recommendation for a gaming license for Torguson in the early spring," he added.

Torguson's applications are two of about 23 that have been received from gaming developers and suppliers so far, Nourse said.

"We're hoping to bring on three more investigators and another secretary to help handle the applications in the next couple of weeks."

"We're investigating six operations right now: Torguson's two, two in Natchez, the LA Cruise and the Southern Elegance. When we finish one investigation, we'll start on another application. Bay Cove, Lambert Land Corp., is next in line."

"But with the nature of investigations, you never can tell how long they'll take. So I can't

Tax collections top $2 mil

BY TRACI BONNEY Realty tax collections are high for this time of year, according to county Tax Assessor/Collector Edward Murtagh.

Murtagh said his office had collected more than $2 million in property taxes before the New Year's Day holiday. "Those are the smaller ones. The majority of the larger tax amounts will come in at the end of the month."

Usually this early in the year, few taxes have been paid, which means that the city school district, Bay St. Louis and the Homestead exemption filing changes created

BY TRACI BONNEY One-time homestead exemption filing is now a reality. County Tax Assessor/Collector Edward Murtagh said the state tax office no longer requires annual homestead exemption applications for those who have been eligible for the exemption in past years.

Now, once you have been accepted for a homestead exemption, you are required to file again only if your status changes

Randolph resigns

BY JACQUI COCHRAN Terrell Randolph resigned from the office of county school district superintendent late Tuesday.

He said the resignation was necessary to obtain retirement benefits. Randolph's term was to end with the swearing-in of new superintendent Myrna Bourgeois tomorrow.

Board president Frank Miller and members Kay Sones and Charles Ray Thomas were present for a quorum at the special recess meeting called on New Year's Eve.

Sones questioned the board's ability to accept Randolph's resignation without the physical evidence of a letter of request.

Hancock jury to hear capital murder trial

A pool of potential jurors will be selected by attorneys Tuesday in Hancock County to hear the capital murder trial of a parolee charged in the slaying of his 14-year-old cousin near Raymond, Miss.

The trial of Charles Edwin Goode was moved to Bay St. Louis by Hinds Circuit Judge L. Breland Hilburn because of pre-trial publicity about the case in the Raymond area.

Goode, 24, and Ricky Lynn Snelson, 26, both of Jackson, are charged with capital murder, kidnapping and arson in the death of Stephen Goode, 14, during a burglary February 20, 1991.

The youth's body was found in a field near his home. A 1989 Chevrolet pickup stolen from his home was burned near the body.

Snelson will be tried separately.

Proposed raises tabled at Hancock

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
 Superintendent-elect Myrna Bourgeois will assume leadership of the Hancock County School District at a salary approximately $12,300 lower than her predecessor.

Bourgeois asked outgoing superintendent Terrell Randolph Tuesday if funds for proposed administrative raises were the same monies reduced from the superintendent's salary by the board.

Randolph sat silently facing Bourgeois and nodded his head, "Yes."

In a special/recess meeting called New Year's Eve, Randolph asked that the board consider approval on a list of proposed administrative salary raises at their next meeting.

"I would like to see these passed," he stated. "The principals did not get salary increases at the time the teachers did."

Should the list of proposed administrative salary increases be approved, the assistant superintendent will receive the largest raise of $2,000 per year, placing his salary $500 less than the incoming superintendent's yearly pay.

The superintendent's salary is determined by years of experience. The present scale increases the superintendent's yearly salary by $1,000 per year.

By state law the superintendent's salary can be set by the board at any given figure, so long as it is the highest figure paid within the district.

The new superintendent's salary, $47,500, was approved by the board two weeks earlier, when the board approved the amended 1992 budget.

Bourgeois questioned the legal right of the board to reduce the superintendent's salary since the office is an elected position.

Board president Frank Miller said, "Please show us something that points out or indicates that we are in violation of salary scales."

Randolph said he had hoped to receive approval on the administrative salary increases that night, but Miller had requested no action be taken on the increases.

Board member Charles Ray Thomas requested the board address two concerns in the New Year.

Thomas, appointed to the board following the resignation of Barbara Dedeaux, lost his seat to Cheryl Bennett in the fall.

"As this is my last meeting," Thomas stated, "I would like you to follow up on (establishing) a hunting safety program voters to decide such issues as whether or not to have a state lottery.

Concerning education, Frankiewicz said he thinks it will be a hot topic of discussion, but little concrete action will be taken toward improving the state's public education system.

Government reorganization and election reform proposals, including open primary and term limitation proposals, are also probable, but Frankiewicz predicted that the primary and limitation bills will not gain much support in the Legislature.

Among local issues, dockside gambling will continue to be in the forefront. Frankiewicz said the county's request will be considered for a local and private bill like one passed for Bay St. Louis, which allows the city to levy a $2.50 per person board-levy fee and a $100 per gaming machine/device tax on gaming facilities.

He also commented on the Mississippi Gaming Control Act of 1990, saying some technical and content matters still need to be cleaned up or clarified.

"We need to plug some little back door things that might allow a criminal element to come into the developments," he stated. "For instance, a provision in the law allows the gaming commission director to approve contracts for those people who are denied licenses. That means a person who is not granted a gaming license can still contract to work for a company that is given one."

He said the state also needs to build into its gaming laws the authority for local governments to enact zoning for dockside gambling facilities and their locations.

In other matters, he said he plans to re-introduce a bill that will let the county zone, only where it is needed outside city limits.

Another bill he plans to encourage passage of will take chancery and circuit clerks off the fee system of payment and put them on fixed salaries.

Compretta said his two main concerns this session will deal with fishing laws and property tax sales.

"I plan to try to pass a bill that will coordinate fish size and limit laws between Mississippi and Louisiana. Many of our fishermen in Hancock County go into Louisiana waters. They catch fish that are legal in Louisiana, then end up getting tickets when they land in Mississippi. That's one of the biggest complaints I'm hearing."

Concerning property tax sales, Compretta said he has been working with Tax Assessor/Collector Edward Murtagh to write and pass a bill that will allow properties not sold to remain with the county instead of their being stricken off and credited to the state, as they are currently.

Overall, he said, the biggest problem facing the Legislature is how to find funds for the state.

"We're getting a dim forecast for revenues coming into the state," he remarked. "I expect the revenue problem to take up the majority of our time in this session."

Homestead

— you turn 65; become disabled, divorced, widowed or separated; or you need to change one or more land parcels.

This change in filing procedures, which the state is making on a two-year trial basis, is expected to save several thousand dollars in postage and processing, Murtagh said.

"There are about 8,000 people who file for homestead exemption in Hancock County," he commented. "Multiply that by 29 cents, and you've saved about $2,500."

The savings on postage this year will be only about $1,000, but Murtagh explained that this is because he sent out postcards notifying homestead exemption applicants of the changes. Postage for mailing a post card is 17 cents.

All new property owners still must make an initial filing, he added. Those who need to file should include a copy of their deed, motor vehicle registration or other necessary documents with the application.

For those who do need to file an application, filing dates are January 1 through April 1. Murtagh said the state will not accept applications filed after April 1.

The local tax office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and will be open half a day each Saturday in January. Murtagh encouraged those who have questions about the status of their exemption to call 467-5727 or visit the tax office.

say for sure when we will start on Lambert's investigation."

Bayou Caddy Casino, being the last of the local developers to submit a license application, is the third one for Hancock County that will be investigated.

Meanwhile, the commission also is formulating procedures to regulate training schools for casino employees. Nourse said the state Gaming Control Act requires that casino school students and casino employees be investigated in the same manner as are casino operators, major stockholders and development property owners.

He explained that the commission most probably will develop a student permit of some sort. The investigation for that permit will be updated upon a student's graduation and application for a work permit. Casino workers are required by law to obtain a work permit before starting a job in a dockside gambling operation.

county have to make short term loans to meet some of their expenses.

However, Murtagh and his staff started collecting taxes in December of 1991, which resulted in money being on hand for the school district, city and county to use.

"I can give them an early settlement and keep them from having to borrow money," Murtagh said. "That saves the taxpayers money by saving the city, county and schools some."

ON PATROL

From Echo Staff Reports

SHOOTING

A local man was injured New Year's Day in a hunting accident, according to Sheriff's Deputy Matt Karl.

Karl said Jessie Ray Cuevas, 24, of Fenton-Dedaux sustained a gunshot wound to the left side of his face following an incident early New Year's Day.

Cuevas and John D. Ladner were reportedly deer hunting near their community around 7 a.m. when the 22-gauge weapon apparently discharged by accident, Karl reported. Cuevas was treated and released from Hancock Medical Center.

Karl said no charges were filed and the matter was turned over to game warden Andy Elchos for investigation.

DESTRUCTION OF CITY PROPERTY

Waveland Police Chief James Varnell reported Thursday the arrest of a Waveland resident who reportedly ran his car into Elwood Bourgeois Park while apparently intoxicated early New Year's Day.

Varnell said, "Harvey August, 18, was charged Wednesday with DUI, reckless driving, no driver's license, destruction of city property and assault on a police officer."

"He was heading south on Waveland Avenue when he lost control of the 1982 Oldsmobile and drove into the fence surrounding the Elwood Bourgeois Park on the corner of Central and Waveland avenues," said Varnell.

"It looks as though he tried to drive back out after tearing things up," he said.

Varnell stated August remained in jail under a $6,500 bond.

BaySide Fire Dept. to meet

Members of the BaySide Volunteer Fire Department are asked to attend a meeting Thursday evening, January 9, at 7 at the fire station.

Randolph

Randolph said, "The staff is gone, and I would like to make this my last day. It could affect my retirement."

The superintendent left the meeting room and returned a few minutes later with a written letter. He told the board, "If there is any problem with it, I can come back and withdraw my resignation."

The board accepted the resignation and made assistant superintendent Eddie Danzey acting superintendent until Monday.

Bourgeois questioned the legality of closing the district office, saying, "To my understanding, the school district maintains the same holidays as the county."

Randolph said the board could close the office at will, and unsuccessfully attempted to find a state statute pertaining to the matter.

The board approved the closing of the district office until Monday.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The good news for homeowners in Mississippi because of recently enacted legislation is that we now have a one-time filing for homestead exemption.

This is a big change from having to file each year. Once a homeowner has filed for homestead exemption, the only time one will have to file again is for a change in status.

Such changes are necessary for a homeowner becoming 65, disabled, divorced, widowed, separated, or to change parcel or parcels, etc.

Of course, all new property owners must file initially in the tax assessor's office. They must produce a copy of the deed and copy of motor registration.

The new owners of property, or those with changes, may file from January 1 through April 1, 1992 for homestead exemption.

If you have any questions, give a call to the assessor/tax collector's office at 467-5727 Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Edward Murtagh, assessor/tax collector, reports the office will also be open a half day on Saturdays during January.

Don't forget, property taxes become delinquent after January 31.

Only through the help of many has the United Way of Hancock County been able to reach its goal of $140,000.

This is good news, and Mike Haas Jr., 1991 campaign chairman, and all of his helpers should be congratulated on a job well done.

Haas reported on Friday some $143,121 in donations and pledges have been made. He is pleased with the efforts of the loaned executives and volunteers who worked so hard during the past four months.

Most important are those who have made payroll deductions and contributions towards the campaign.

Payroll deductions have been made through many businesses and industries over the years, and we are grateful for them and the new ones made in 1991.

Thanks to everyone for their help.

I hope you did not forget to drop off your Christmas tree behind the civic center on Saturday. Trees will be chipped to create organic mulch which will be used for beautification projects in the area.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce sponsored the chipping project in cooperation with Mississippi Power Company and the Extension Service.

If you reside in Waveland, a special collection of Christmas trees will be made from curbside on Wednesday of this week and they will be ground into mulch for landscape projects in that city.

Bay St. Louis will collect the trees from curbside Monday through Friday of this week and the mulch from them will be used by the city.

I am glad to see these projects in our area. The chipping of the trees eliminates the use of space for disposal in our ever-shrinking land waste sites, and the mulch becomes a very useable product in landscaping projects.

I am glad to see so many interested in beautification in our area.

Remember, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's beautification committee has adopted the slogan of Litter Free in '93, and with the help of everyone, this can be accomplished.

Gotcha!

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Life after Dye

Now that Brad Dye is no longer going to be the powerful "permanent" lieutenant governor, what is life going to be like in the Mississippi Senate where he reigned the past 12 years? Apparently it is still hard for some of the old-time members of the Senate to get used to the idea that Dye is not around. For example, at a caucus of the new Senate a couple of weeks ago, one old hand, Sen. Tommy Gollott of Biloxi, never known for his brilliance, got up to speak.

Relating that he had just met Gov.-elect Kirk Fordice for the first time, Gollott called the incoming governor "Fordye" and kept going without batting an eye.

The big issue in the lieutenant governor's race which ended in Sen. Eddie Briggs unseating Dye was that Dye had wielded inordinate power over the legislative process. The inference was Dye reduced the people's elected senators to virtual minions of his own fiefdom.

However, the source of Dye's vaunted power was derived from the rules which the members of the Senate themselves adopted, handing him—a member of the executive branch of government—the control levers to operate the legislative machinery in the Senate.

So, with Briggs replacing Dye, is the Senate now going to take away from the lieutenant governor, constitutionally its only presiding officer, any of those control levers? Is the Senate going to assert itself as an independent body that is capable of running its own affairs?

Despite some footwork that was going on, the indications last week were that the new Senate is really not going to make any substantive changes in the Senate rules and reduce the powers of the lieutenant governor.

A 10-member ad hoc committee of senators chosen by caucuses of members by congressional districts has had one meeting and is having a second this week to come up with a preliminary draft of Senate rules. So far, the traditional powers of the lieutenant governor to appoint all Senate committees, and chairman and vice-chairman thereof, and refer all bills to committees, remain untouched.

The only change getting any serious consideration is to remove the lieutenant governor as chairman of the Rules Committee, but even then, the sentiment is to leave him a voting member of the committee.

What is even more surprising is the apparent attitude of the ad hoc committee not to restore the Senate Services Committee, which Dye had eliminated eight years ago. That committee, elected from the membership, formerly had the power to employ, discharge and supervise members of the Senate staff until Dye took over those powers.

Briggs ostensibly is keeping hands-off the rules process, and not interfering in the Senate's decisions, something which he had charged Dye would never do. It was Dye's abuse of the rules and not the rules Briggs contended, that was the real culprit. Evidently that is the new-think that many of the senators are adopting to curry friendship with Briggs.

One of Briggs' campaign planks was to limit the lieutenant governor to two successive terms in office, some as the governor. Consistent with that, he has prepared for introduction in the 1992 legislative session a term-limitation constitutional amendment for his job and the prospects are that it will pass easily.

Meantime, five senators—Gollott of Biloxi, Ollie Mohamed of Belzoni, Bill Canan of Columbus, Bill Thames of Mize and Kenneth Williams of Clarksdale—have been jousting to win the job of Senate President Pro Tempore, apparently none with enough votes lined up to move into a favorite's role and none with Briggs' blessing.

A new entry into the Pro Tem hunt last week was Ronnie Musgrove of Batesville, who as only a second-term is the youngest in the field. Musgrove was seen in some quarters as a strong dark-horse who could very well break to the front.

Robert Crook of Ruleville, the senior member of the Senate, and the only senator who openly supported Briggs for lieutenant governor, could very well have his choice of committee assignments. Then word is he will turn down the powerful Appropriations chairmanship, a job Dye refused to give him, because it is too pressure-packed for his heart condition.

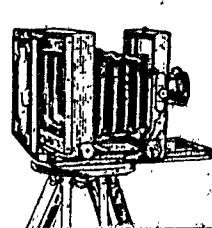

There were rumblings that Bob Montgomery of Canton, chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, won't be back in that assignment in the Briggs regime.

Lisa Cowand and Ronald Cuevas

Cowand, Cuevas proud of their accomplishments

BY TRACI BONNEY

No real regrets—that's what Ronald Cuevas and Lisa Cowand say they have about their terms as supervisors.

At the board's final 1991 meeting Tuesday, Cowand thanked her colleagues for their support and cooperation during the 2½ years she served.

"You took me under your wing, you worked with me, and I thank you for that," she said.

Cuevas also thanked the board and added a comment about the supervisors' duties as decision-makers. He stated, "The decisions we make are not always popular ones. Popular decisions ensure a good political career, but they don't always do what's best for the county, which is what I've tried to do."

In a brief interview after the meeting, the two outgoing supervisors talked about their plans for after they leave office and mentioned some of the highlights of their terms.

Cuevas said he plans to return to his grocery store in Pearlinton, while Cowand said she plans to finish renovating her house.

Included in the list of highlights of their terms in office were: the completion of the new county Human Services Complex, the construction of the walking track at Hancock Medical Center, progress on the sand beach renourishment, the openings of new businesses at the Port Blenville Industrial Park, the obtaining of a $5 million grant for work on Texas Flat Road, and (Cowand was quick to point out) the overlay of the main county road which runs through Diamondhead.

Cuevas said he was especially proud of the progress the board made toward getting the work started on Texas Flat Road, a project which has long plagued previous boards.

"I think that's a tremendous asset the county has now," he commented.

Speaking of the term in general, Cowand said she appreciated that "there was never a lot of dissension between the board members. We always could reach a compromise."

Cuevas added, "It's not a matter that you all agree, but that you all compromise. If you were going to paint this room, and eight different people came in here, they'd probably want to paint it eight different colors."

"But if you can come together and reach a compromise, you have a solution that's most likely better than the original answers."

Neither Cowand nor Cuevas could point out any large projects that they wanted to see done which weren't.

Cowand reiterated a comment she made at the board meeting.

"I have to commend Ronnie on his work as board chairman. I don't think we could have done as much as we did without his leadership. You have here someone you can send to Jackson, Washington (DC) or anywhere else and have him represent the county well."

"I truly think this board really will miss him."

Rocks drop 3

BY TRACI BONNEY

Although the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws varsity team lost to Jesuit High School of New Orleans in a holiday matchup December 30, SSC coach Jay Ladner was pleased with the Rocks' showing.

"I thought this was our best performance in the past couple of weeks," he said of the 64-47 loss. "Our intensity was what it needed to be to win."

Leading scorers for the Rocks were Ryan Harrell with 15 points, Mike Lee with 13 and Trent Terrell with 10. In rebounding, Lee and Harrell again stood out—Lee had six and Harrell had four, while Grady Thigpen chipped in five.

The varsity team, 3-13 for the season and 2-3 in the conference, hosts Long Beach January 7.

Meanwhile, both the junior varsity and ninth grade SSC teams also met with defeat at the hands of the Jesuit players.

The JV game ended with a score of Jesuit 64, SSC 37. Leading Rock scorers were Myron Labat with 11 points and Jeff Bishop with 9.

Coach Jerry Spell commented, "We hung in there for three quarters even though we played without three starters. They (Jesuit) eventually pulled away at the end."

"However, I have to give Jesuit credit. They play an extremely disciplined man-to-man defense which kept us off-balance."

The 4-7 squad was next scheduled to travel to Biloxi January 4. Results of that game were unavailable at press time.

The SSC ninth grade team dropped their match to Jesuit 61-47. Rock scoring leaders included Brandon Benoit with 18 points, and David McGuinness and Nathan Middleton with 8 each.

BHS loses, HHS wins

The 7th Annual Picayune Tournament held mixed results for local basketball teams Thursday.

While the Bay High boys team lost 89-64 to the host Picayune squad, the Hancock girls trampled the opposing Slidell, La., team 73-37.

In the boys game, Tripp Whavers led scoring for the BHS Tigers with 19 points. Tristan Robertson followed with 17 and James Ricks rounded out the double-digit scorers with 10.

In girls action, Hawkette Stacey Ladner netted 28 points to pace her team in scoring. Leah Smith was second with 15, followed by T. Cuevas with 10.

DeRoma-MacMillan wedding ceremony held in the Vatican

BY JANET MCQUEEN
When prospective bride Virginia MacMillan consulted her parish priest to reserve her wedding date, she was told he would be on sabbatical at the Vatican.

The Reverend Peter Mockler didn't take it seriously when MacMillan and her fiancée, Joseph H. DeRoma III, said they would move the wedding from Our Lady of the Gulf to St. Peter's Basilica. On November 21, they did just that. "We couldn't resist the urge to chuck the traditional wedding ceremony and reception plans," wrote MacMillan in her account of the event. "It also seemed like a perfect excuse for family and friends to enjoy an impromptu European vacation (round-trip fares cost less than $400), although neither bit the bait." The couple arrived by plane in Frankfurt, Germany, and traveled by train to Lucerne, Switzerland for sightseeing prior to the wedding.

A night train to Rome is remembered as a nightmare by the couple, who were robbed by gypsies who maneuvered their bags away while they slept.

Arriving at the Franciscan convent where they were to stay, "we were struck by the familial hospitality of the sisters," wrote MacMillan. On their second day in Rome, the couple secured the services of a photographer, as their camera fell victim to the gypsies.

"During the papal audience the day before our wedding, we sat with eight other couples to receive a special blessing for our marriage. As we watched the Pope, not 10 feet away from us, we wished for a camera to capture the benevolence before us. That evening, we had a non-traditional wedding rehearsal at a wonderful Italian restaurant."

Arriving at the Vatican the next day in pouring rain, the couple argued with officials to dispense with prohibitions on photography. "By a hair...and a few white lies, approval was granted and (we) rushed through clapping crowds of tourists towards our chapel."

Sister Helen Agnes, a Franciscan nun, was the bride's attendant. Betty Borso of Rome, Italy, also witnessed the ceremony as 'best woman.'

The bride is the daughter of Jane Erickson of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and William MacMillan of St. Bernard, La., and the granddaughter of Enola MacMillan of Bay St. Louis. The groom is the son of Susan and Joseph Henry DeRoma II of Huntington, Conn.

A family reception was hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Donald L. Roberts December 28. The bride will continue to reside on the Coast, where she works at Applied Psychology Center as a child behavior specialist. The groom works as a financial analyst in Philadelphia, Pa.

Perniciaro-Spindel

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joe Perniciaro

The marriage of Kimberly Joan Spindel and Frank Joe Perniciaro was solemnized August 11, 1991, at Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Spindel of River Ridge, La. The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Perniciaro.

Music was provided by the church organist. Mayor Edward Favre performed the readings during the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ybos, aunt and uncle of the groom, stood for the groom's parents.

Gloria Jean Keller, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Tammy Marie Gibson and Rita Blaize.

Robin Lauren Sierra, daughter of the bride, was flower girl. Quentin Paul Sierra, son of the bride, was ring bearer.

Neil Favre Jr. was best man. Groomsmen were Jim Keller, Gary W. Gibson Jr., Andrew Perniciaro and Mike Favre.

Ushers were Jonathan and Jamie Favre. A reception was held in Virginia Hall following the ceremony.

After a honeymoon in Callaway Gardens, Pine Mountain, Ga., the couple will reside in Waveland, where both are employed by the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bay High School and attends Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Jefferson Davis Campus.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Bay High School and is employed with the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

The couple plan an afternoon wedding at Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian January 25.

HELP YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP WHICH HAS GIVEN YOU HELP

If you've been attending your House of Worship regularly, it's because you've had some good reasons for doing so. You have received God's blessings and guidance there, and perhaps you have been given some advice and comfort by your clergyman at a time when you needed it most. Now you should consider doing something in return for these benefits, if you haven't been doing it already. There are many helpful services you can perform, according to your talents and physical ability. Even such simple acts as making phone calls, typing announcements for the bulletin, or taking a turn watching the children in the nursery can be of great value. So do whatever you can to help your House of Worship, remembering all the times that it has been helpful to you.

Sometimes give your services for nothing, calling to mind a previous benefaction. -Hippocrates

"Every man shall give as he is able, according to the Lord thy God." -Deuteronomy 16:17
